General Session 8:30 a.m. – 10 a.m.

Navigating Freedom of Expression in a Time of Social Unrest

2020 will bring challenges for school districts as they navigate employee and student discussions and protests on current social issues such as Black Lives Matter, Blue Lives Matter, COVID-19, Mask Mandate, allegations of racism and injustice by police and the upcoming Presidential election. How can schools manage these diverse views and beliefs without violating the First Amendment's free speech and expression clause? How can schools manage student and employee morale and safety knowing that many will be offended, hurt, and angered by free speech expression? Many schools will face a polarized campus on current social and political issues. This presentation will address the challenges public schools have in complying with the First Amendment's protection of free speech and expression while maintaining a safe school free from substantial disruption. Additionally, we will discuss what "speech" is not protected, teachers claim to Academic Freedom and student and employee use of social media to "speak" and express various viewpoints which may be viewed as controversial and offensive.

Breakout Sessions 10:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m.

Bidding and Procurement: Legal Strategies and Best Practices During a Pandemic

Bidding and procurement can be a daunting process during “normal” times. This has only become more complicated during the pandemic. This session will address various options to properly conduct bidding utilizing strategies to deal with the “new normal”, such as electronic bid submissions, cooperative purchasing, and virtual pre-bid meetings and bid openings. We will also cover the fundamentals of bidding and purchasing which remain unchanged during these times by addressing some common (and not-so-common) situations which arise during the process.

Presenters:

Kenneth M. Florey, Partner

Howard A. Metz, Partner

A Whole New World: How to Safely Navigate the New Title IX Terrain

On August 14, 2020, the U.S. Department of Education’s new Rules governing how school districts must address allegations of sexual harassment under Title IX went into effect. This breakout session will provide a comprehensive analysis of the new Rules, along with recommendations for school districts to implement the new Rules while facing the unique challenges of the 2020-2021 school year.

Presenters:

Matthew M. Swift, Associate

Emily P. Bothfeld, Associate

Breakout Sessions 11:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

COVID-19 Related Leave and COVID-19 Related Accommodation Requests

Many educational institutions are wrestling with questions over how to modify their delivery of educational services to adapt to the pandemic – and the inevitable ensuing demands by unions to bargain any such changes in the work environment. While a college retains the right to decide how to provide instruction – full in-person, hybrid, totally remote – it may not violate the express terms of a collectively bargained agreement and may have an obligation to negotiate changes in the conditions of employment even when those changes do not violate the terms of a CBA. This section will review common issues which are being raised by unions over return to campus/work plans and what options colleges have to respond to them.

Presenters:

Catherine R. Locallo, Partner

Jessica A. Milligan, Associate

Understanding Compensatory Services in the World of Covid-19

This presentation will provide participants with an in-depth analysis of compensatory services claims and the legal standards applied by courts when determining liability for denials of a free appropriate public education (FAPE) under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). Additionally, this presentation will explore how these legal standards have been or would be applied to claims alleging denials of FAPE due to disruptions in special education services related to the COVID-19 pandemic and provide participants with recommendations for future planning.

Presenters:

Caroline A. Roselli, Partner

Michelle L. Weber, Associate

Breakout Sessions 12:30 p.m. – 1:30 p.m.

Staff Reduction and Cost Saving Measures as a Result of the COVID-19 Pandemic

Illinois school districts need to consider methods to reduce their personnel costs due to increased expenses and reduced tax revenues related to the COVID-19 pandemic. This session will cover the various employment-related cost savings options available to Illinois school districts, including reductions in force (“RIFs”), furloughs, and voluntary retirement incentive plans. Collective bargaining implications associated with implementing these types of cost-savings measures, along with requirements and restrictions imposed by the Illinois School Code and other applicable laws, will also be reviewed in detail.

Presenters:

Philip H. Gerner, Partner

Thomas C. Garretson, Associate

Pandemic Placements: A Discussion of Parental Unilateral Placements & District Responses During COVID-19

This presentation covers parental unilateral placements and school district responses during COVID-19. School districts are experiencing an uptick in private parental placements with requests for reimbursement as a result of spring school closures and remote learning this fall. This presentation will highlight how school districts can meet FAPE requirements during periods of remote learning. This presentation will also include a review of recent case law updates addressing the requirements for unilateral placements and reimbursement obligations under the IDEA. Attendees can expect a discussion of practical considerations for responding to unilateral parental placements and requests for reimbursement given the unique in-person, hybrid and remote learning realities impacting instruction and the provision of FAPE during COVID-19.

Presenters:

Laura M. Sinars, Partner

Zaria N. Udeh, Associate

Breakout Sessions 1:30 p.m. – 2:30 p.m.

School Buildings and Operations: Understanding the Basics of Risk Management

Risk management has always been an important consideration for school districts and other public and private education entities. Now, in the age of COVID, it is critical that schools identify, understand, and fully utilize all the tools available to manage risk for both remote and on-campus instruction, as well as for general operations. This breakout session will analyze specific COVID risks related to school buildings and operations and outline best practices for mitigating those risks. In addition to the mitigation directives and guidance from ISBE, IDPH, and the CDC, we will analyze critical contract provisions to incorporate in third-party and vendor contracts to enhance safety protocols and protect schools from potential liability. We will also examine potential limits on liability insurance coverage for contagion-related claims and several important tort immunities available to school districts concerning discretionary, health-related decisions.

Presenters:

Samuel B. Cavnar, Partner

Matthew J. Gardner, Partner

Employee Evaluations and Management of Performance in a Virtual Work Environment

This presentation will explore both the statutory requirements and suggestive guidance on evaluating both licensed and non-licensed staff during a disaster proclamation when in-person instruction is uncertain and remote learning is likely to occur or already occurring. Alternatives to formal evaluations, including the feasibility of deferring evaluations until the following school term will be discussed, as well as school districts' bargaining obligations related to same. School districts that choose to defer staff evaluative ratings, may still be interested in strategies for observing the learning environment both in-person and remotely for the purpose of providing feedback and managing immediate observable deficiencies with teaching performance.

Presenters:

Dennis L. Weedman, Partner

Kevin P. Noll, Associate

Breakout Sessions 2:30 p.m. – 3:30 p.m.

Back to School Beginnings: A Legal Panel Focusing on Student and Special Education Frequently Asked Questions

School is Back...after months of summer planning, the 2020-2021 School Year is underway. Join us for a legal panel where we will discuss your frequently asked student and special education questions regarding back to school. Whether your district has started the year remotely, in-person or in some hybrid fashion, our panel will address your questions regarding face covering accommodations, confidentiality on virtual platforms, special education minutes and amendments, parents' requests to opt out of classes and much more.

Navigating Revenue Issues and Fund Balances During COVID

The COVID-19 pandemic has left uncertainty regarding the availability and use of property revenue. This breakout session will discuss property tax collection, and outline offensive and defensive strategies, and strategic decisions, to avoid revenue loss. We will discuss the current state of the real estate market and focus on Covid-19's impact on proceedings with the Assessor, Board of Review, Property Tax Appeal Board and the Courts. We will also discuss best practices for avoiding and defending your district against tax rate objections
